THE LETTER TO THE FATHER

Investment Overview: Prestige Feature Film

The Package

Proposed: Adrien Brody as Kafka (unattached). Period drama (Prague/Berlin, 1912–1924), structured in six emotional movements and built around unusually strong dramatic engines for this kind of subject: the father-letter spine, the recurring office case, and three distinct romantic lives that each redirect the film. Psychologically immersive, but cleaner in narrative propulsion and more legible in the marketplace than the generic literary-biopic comp set. Complete screenplay and studio development package available.

Budget: $12–18M Runtime: Approximately 110 minutes

Audience and Positioning

An adult literary drama with procedural traction from Kafka's insurance work, a father-letter spine, and a warmer Berlin/Dora movement. Illustrative comparables include The Brutalist, Tár, Maestro and Phantom Thread. Similarity is a positioning hypothesis, not proof of audience demand or revenue.

Release Hypothesis

A festival-led introduction, limited theatrical release and later streaming sale could suit the work. No festival invitation, distributor interest, sales estimate or awards outcome is established. A campaign would depend on the completed film, eligibility, response and available resources.

Production Assumptions

The historical development plan proposed a Prague-centered shoot and European co-production. Period detail, locations, performer availability and the six-movement structure need a line producer's breakdown. Incentive eligibility and rates must be researched again for the actual production; no rebate is secured by this package.

Financing Structure

International co-production (Czech/German/Austrian). Multiple financing lanes: ultra-premium indie (A24, MUBI), mini-major prestige (Searchlight, Focus), or streamer awards play (Netflix, Apple). Equity participation structured around tax-incentive-backed production with pre-sale recoupment.

Risk and Next Decision

The proposed lead is unattached. Period costs, international sales, rights, audience size and the budget all remain risks. Read the screenplay, commission a current schedule and budget, review chain of title, and test distribution assumptions before considering any offer. This example solicits no investment.

Verification Required

Budget, incentives, comparable grosses and recoupment assumptions need current independent diligence before any investment use. No financing or talent is attached.

A prestige investment with clear awards leverage and unusually strong dramatic engines for a literary subject.

Development example. All casting, financing and awards language is illustrative; no attachments confirmed.
