THE LEDGER ROOM

Financier Pitch

Proposition A contemporary contained drama built around a small ensemble and six practical sites. Its differentiator is a two-worker conflict over the same completion certificate, complicated by the archivist's old certification and the courier's privacy breach. The successful task does not create a fantasy compensation payout.

What is actually prepared Complete revised screenplay, scene map, production-scope assumptions and coherent creative package. No cast, director, distributor, financing, incentives, budget or sales estimates are attached or verified. The current demonstration page count and layout receipts are disclosed separately.

Cost and demand risks Controllable interiors help, but night access, vehicles, safe handling, document continuity and ensemble schedules require real costing. Adult drama audience fit is a hypothesis. No comparison title or awards possibility is being converted into a revenue forecast.

Decision requested Commission a qualified budget/schedule and independent commercial assessment before considering an amount or financing structure. Do not infer an investment recommendation from the generated package. Any later finance terms depend on actual rights, team, jurisdiction and distribution evidence.
