THE LEDGER ROOM

Talent Representative Pitch

The opportunity Two substantial working-women roles and an ensemble able to refuse them. Clara,54, has authority, evasiveness, physical work, dry humor and a particular admission. Jory,37, combines task competence with a damaging shortcut and a late choice that still has an employment alternative.

Scenes to read For Clara: S10,S25,S34,S54. For Jory: S21,S27,S31,S48. Bea's central challenge is S22, where her organizing authority fails. Lida is a public administrator with genuine power and a defensible competing good. Ina makes a compact but consequential refusal.

Package status Complete revised demonstration screenplay with development materials. No performer, director, producer, financing, dates or role offer attached. Casting profiles are creative requirements; no client's availability, interest, career fit or fee is assumed.

Proposed next step If a producer later makes a genuine approach, request a script read and role conversation rather than implying a commitment. No outreach is being sent with this package. Authorship, schedule, fee and rights would require accurate professional documentation.
