THE LEDGER ROOM

Actor Pitch

The role Clara Venn,54, an archivist whose control is useful until it becomes an excuse. She wants an orderly retirement. An old receiving certificate makes her the best witness and a compromised witness at once. The permanent key she once treasured is tied to the question she chose to close.

Playable turns S10: push back the option that would expose her. S25: find the closed query, remember pleasure without manufacturing chronology. S34: acknowledge the financial hold while a lawful safer alternative remains. S54: write the particular self-protective reason instead of performing generalized remorse.

The ensemble Jory bargains in labor and disclosure terms; Bea is not available as a grateful victim; Mara leaves despite affection. Clara cannot win by being the cleverest speaker. Listening, embarrassment, domestic impatience and physical work matter as much as confession.

Proposal Read Clara with an ensemble partner and test the counter and final-table scenes. Age and behavior should fit the long career and adult daughter. No performer is attached, approached or assumed available. This is a creative role proposal, not a casting offer.
